

TOD'S NO_CODE EVOLUTION PRESS CONFERENCE

MILAN - 14TH NOVEMBER, 2018

SPEAKERS BIOGRAPHIES

Yong is a talented fashion and industrial designer born in Seoul, South Korea, and based in Europe. He completed his degree in industrial design at Hansung University in Seoul, and then he moved to Italy to continue his education at the IED in Turin where he got his master's degree in industrial design.

- Chris Bangle is an American industrial and automobile designer. Bangle is known best for his work as Chief of Design for BMW Group, where he was responsible for the BMW, MINI and Rolls-Royce motor cars.
- Angela Rui is an Italian PhD design curator and writer based between Milan and Rotterdam. She recently curated the 25th Design Biennial of Ljubljana (May 2017), under the title "Faraway, So Close." Her writings appeared in publications and catalogues published by several institutions, MAXXI (Rome) and CCA (Montreal) among others, and she has been Member of Theoretical, historical, critical research and publishing projects commission for ADI Design Index (2013-2015) Until 2016 she taught at the School of Design (Politecnico di Milano) and at the Master of Interior Design program at NABA (Nuova Accademia di Belle Arti in Milan).
- Yoji Tokuyoshi was born in Tottori, a small city in Japan. His passion for the Italian cuisine took him on a life changing journey to Italy where at Osteria Francescana he stood side by side as Massimo Bottura's sous-chef for 9 years. In February 2015 he chose to open up his own restaurant in Milan: his hard work, talent and creativity lead him to receive his first Michelin star after just 10 months of opening.